FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

OneSource Relocation Names Jeff Morris as Sr. Vice President of Business Development

MARIETTA, GEORGIA – July 6, 2009 - OneSource Relocation, a U.S. domestic and international employee relocation management and consulting services company, has named Jeff Morris as Sr. Vice President of Business Development. Morris joins OneSource's leadership team, responsible for national sales.

Morris is a twenty-two year veteran of the relocation industry. He began his career at Prudential Relocation, progressing in operations and business development with Prudential and key relocation industry competitors. Morris has earned the Worldwide ERC® designations of Certified Relocation Professional and Global Mobility Specialist. He is a member of several relocation industry groups and currently serves as president of the Metro Atlanta Relocation Council (MARC).

"We are excited to have someone with Jeff's experience join our team," said Eve Seib, President of OneSource. "As a seasoned and highly regarded member of the relocation services profession, Jeff understands our industry and knows how to provide companies with value based mobility solutions. Furthermore, he brings an added level of passion and innovation to an already exceptional team."

"I am very pleased to join this team of experienced industry professionals. OneSource offers an unmatched combination of policy expertise, technological resources and client focus that results in the delivery of the best, most cost-effective service. I look forward to representing them in the field and helping to extend their history of success."

Founded in 1997, OneSource Relocation provides global relocation and mobility management services to corporations and organizations. Through uncompromised dedication to their clients' objectives, OneSource Relocation has become the partner of choice for Fortune 500 Companies, rapidly growing mid-sized companies and those organizations with only occasional relocation needs.
